Preface

In the multilingual milieu of India, English has occupied the place of lingua franca between the different states of the country. So the knowledge and acquisition of competence in English is the need of the post independent India. The use of the English language in almost all the spheres of life has increased this need to a great extent.

The series of the text books titled 'English Reader' is based on the syllabi of English approved by the state government in the light of NCF, 2005.

This text book has been designed to make the students competent in learning English language. This book helps to develop the four language skills (i.e. listening, speaking, reading and writing) in the learner with the help of 'Textual Activities' designed for this purpose. It widens the student's knowledge through a variety of themes interwoven in the lessons in the text book. There is a wide coverage of themes ranging from self, family, neighbourhood, society, heroes, and patriots to current state and national issues. It also makes the students aware of the diverse genres of English language by the manner of presentation of its text forms viz. description, story, dialogue, biography, process writing and one act play which make learning a joyful and exciting experience. It evaluates the learning outcomes of the students with different activities/exercises through pair work and group work.

This text book contains two types of texts-prose and poetry. Both the texts broaden the head and heart of the students.

The themes cover the issues from local to global. They represent cultural ethos with universal values, which inculcate the basic human values of love, sacrifice, kindness, cooperation, honesty, gratefulness, patriotism, hard work, tolerance and concern for others etc. They reflect the rich and colorful culture of Rajasthan and the great personalities of our country and state have been given due place in the text book. There is a message of environment protection and conservation of water. Glossary at the end of the text helps the students overcome their lexical difficulties. This adds to their vocabulary too. In this book five activities have been given for practice at the end of every lesson.

Activity-I : It tests the student's comprehension of the content and language of the lesson. It includes various types of questions viz. true, false; yes, no; multiple choice and 'wh' questions.

Activity-II : It aims at enhancing the student's vocabulary through different ways.

Activity-III : This explains the categories of grammar occurring in the text through examples. The rules of grammatical items are deduced from examples. Different types of exercises for practice and test are given in this activity.

Activity-IV : This caters to develop the student's skills of listening and speaking through pronunciation practice and answering the questions, exercises etc.

Activity-V : This has been designed to inculcate the writing skills in the students through paragraph writing, letter writing, story writing with the help of given hints, answering the questions and arranging the sentences of a paragraph etc.

The poems given in the text book are meant to provide pleasure to the students. The learner with the teacher's guidance should be able to draw the main ideas of the poem.

For conducting different language activities varied un-standardized instructions, have been given at the beginning of them only with a view to exposing the learners to target language in different ways and thereby enhance their linguistic competence in English.

S.I.E.R.T. wholeheartedly thanks members of Unicef Mr. Samuel M., Chief of UNICEF Jaipur , Dr. Sulagna Roy Education specialist, UNICEF for their timely financial support.

We are especially thankful to Mr. Kunjilal Meena, Secretary Elementary Education, Mr. Nareshpal Gangwar, Secretary and Commissioner RAMSA, Mr. Babulal Meena, Director Elementary Education, Bikaner, Mr. Suwalal, Director Secondary Education Bikaner , Mr. B.L. Jatawat Commissioner SSA and Rajasthan Council of Elementary Education, Govt. of Rajasthan for their valuable suggestions and guidance in making these textbooks better.

It is hoped that this book with stimulating and elevating lessons backed up with adequate language activities will help learners learn English with pleasure by their being the center of teaching-learning process. Suggestions for improvement of text book if any, will be most welcomed.

We express our heartiest thanks to all the writers, poets, publishers, websites and other resources that have directly or indirectly contributed in the shaping this textbook.

'Activity-II' has been designed to make the students learn antonyms, synonyms, one word substitution, number, gender, word formation, compound words, homophones, missing letters etc. Teachers should give more exercises of these to the students.

While teaching grammar, teachers should use the methods and approaches of teaching English. Inductive-Deductive method, Situational and Structural approaches are useful ones. Teach a topic by giving examples first. Put up questions on examples. Extract the desired reply from the students. And then make a general definition/statement about the rule/teaching point. After that, give more example and ask the students to solve them. Finally, give them exercises to do. The topics of articles, present perfect tense, relative pronouns, prepositions, sentence reordering, simple past tense, passive voice, indirect narration, adjectives, modals, conjunctions, imperatives etc. have been given here. 'Activity-III' has been designed to explain the rules and topics of grammar.

Teachers should ask the students to write about the given task in the classroom. They should help the students to tell an appropriate English word of a Hindi word or of a context and the correct sentence structure if the teacher finds a student's sentence faulty. They should give more exercises to the students to do at home and then correct them also if needed. 'Activity-V' has been designed for this purpose. It includes Diary entry, Paragraph writing, Poster, Notice, Letter, Story, Picture composition, Process writing, Description etc.

Teachers should evaluate the learning of their students through important assessment tools. They should keep record of the progress of the child in different skills of English. They should give remark as feedback but in a positive way.

Teacher's Page

The role of a teacher in the classroom and the school is of a great value. The effectiveness of the teaching-learning processes rely much on the preparation and the presentation of the Text and the Textual Activities/exercises in the class by the teacher. A good teacher makes 'Teaching Plan' practical, before the commencement of the session. Unplanned teaching is unjust to the students. Your daily classroom teaching should certainly include the use of audio-visual-verbal teaching aids. The use of teaching aids makes the classroom teaching delightful, attractive and effective. To fulfil this purpose abundant illustrations have been given in this textbook. The present textbook should be taught in the following manner to make the classroom teaching effective and fruitful.

The 'Pre-reading' 'Statements/Questions' have been given just below the 'Title' or the 'Visual' in each lesson. It uses the experiences and the environment of the learners to relate them to the lesson you are about to teach. Speaking in English needn't be stressed upon. Read the 'Pre-reading Statements' aloud to make the students guess what the story or poem is about. Have an informal discussion on the positive and negative points of different contexts. Encourage the students to talk about their own experiences.

Teachers should read the poem and stories aloud to the class with emphasis on clear speech, correct pauses, voice change and expression. Then, ask the students to read silently and understand the text. 'Activity-I' has been designed for 'Comprehension' of the text.

When they finish silent reading of the text, ask them to repeat or recite. Help them answer the questions at the end of the text orally. They can read the text again. Explain and ask questions to aid understanding. Discussion should be encouraged and facilitated. This can be followed by class activities like role play, spotting rhyming words and so on. 'Activity-IV' has been designed for 'Listening and Speaking skills'.

Encourage the students to understand the text with the help of the glossary. They should also be able to look up the dictionary. Textual Teacher : Because we don't pay attention to hygiene.

Santosh : What is hygiene, ma'am?

Teacher : Hygiene is the science and art of preserving and improving health of a person (known as personal hygiene) and of a community (known as community hygiene).

Sunil : What should we do to maintain personal hygiene, ma'am?

Teacher : To maintain personal hygiene we should :

- brush our teeth regularly.
- bathe with fresh water regularly.

- wear clean and dry clothes.
- wash our hands with soap after using the toilet and before every meal.
- wash our eyes with cold water regularly.
- cut our nails regularly and keep them clean.
- use pure drinking water.
- never take uncovered eatables.
- use handkerchief while coughing or sneezing.
- take a balanced and healthy diet.

Hemlata : How should we maintain community hygiene, ma'am?

Teacher : To maintain community hygiene, we should:

- keep our surroundings and environment clean.
- receive the drinking water supply through underground pipe system.
- build and use the public toilets (latrines).
- use manure pits for animals' droppings.
- grow more and more trees.

Aruna : Thanks a lot, ma'am. Now we have learnt well that health is wealth and cleanliness is next to godliness. In fact, knowledge is an income.

Teacher : You are welcome.

The Fruit of Hard Work

- Have you heard the famous saying 'work is worship'?
- It tells us about the importance of hard work in life.

Let us read the story to learn how hard work leads to success.

Once there was an old farmer. He had a son. His son was very lazy. He spent most of his time in eating and sleeping. He did not do any work at all. He grew lazier day by day.

One day the farmer called his son and said, “Look, I shall give everything in charity. I shall not give you anything unless you earn one hundred rupees. For that I give you three days’ time.”

His son went to one of his friends and borrowed a hundred rupee note from him. Then he spent the rest of the day in eating and sleeping. In the evening he came back home and gave the hundred rupee note to his father. He told his father, “Father, I have worked hard today and earned this hundred rupee note.”

The farmer took the note and threw it aside. “This note is not yours. You have not earned it,” he said. The son was not angry at all. He just smiled and walked away. The next morning he again borrowed a hundred rupee note from another friend and spent his time in eating and sleeping. When he returned home in the evening, he gave that note to his father.

His father took the note and again threw it aside. “This note is not yours. You haven't earned the money yourself. You haven't given up your bad habit yet.” The son was not angry but he was disappointed. He did not succeed in cheating his father.

At night his mother went to him. “My son, said she, you must really go to work now. If you work hard and give all you have earned to your father, he will believe you. You have only one day to prove your worth.”

The son took his mother's advice. He went to work on his neighbour's farm. He worked hard but he could get only twenty rupees that day. He came back home and gave the money to his father. Before he could throw the note, his son rushed up to him and snatched the note from his hand.

He asked, “Why do you want to throw it away ? I have spent the whole day working in hot sun just to earn this money.”

His father smiled and said, “I believe you now. At last you have earned this money yourself. I am very happy. Now you can take care of the real worth of hard earned money”.

And he gave all his property to him.

The Smart Village

- Where do people throw the waste in your area?
- Is there a dustbin near your house?
- How do you keep your classroom clean?

Here is a lesson telling us about how the village named Vatika protected its environment. Read the story carefully.

Once two farmers, Ram and Ghanshyam, decided to leave their village to find better work elsewhere. Early one morning both of them left for the town nearby. Ram and Ghanshyam had been walking for nearly six hours when they reached the village of Vatika.

The village was green and clean. They were surprised to see cube-shaped structures on the roofs of all the houses there.

Ram and Ghanshyam decided to enter a house and find out what these structures were. As they went closer, they were surprised to find that the walls of the houses were not made of mud but of something else. As they walked further, they saw a big field. In the field they were very surprised to see huge fans.

The Smart Village

and asked him, “What are these strange things?”

The old man happened to be Hari, the Sarpanch of the village. He told them, “The fans you see are actually windmills, used to trap the wind energy. With the help of windmills, electricity is produced which is used for our street lights. Come, I will show you around.”

The Sarpanch explained to them that the houses were constructed with ash bricks. These were different from the usual material used for making regular bricks. Ash bricks, he said, were made with the ash left over after waste was burnt. The strange cube-shaped structures on them were used to generate electricity from sunlight, which was then used to light up houses.

The Sarpanch then invited Ram and Ghanshyam for dinner to his house. They were amazed to see that the food in his house was being cooked not on wood or a coal fire, but on a gas stove. Hari explained that gas used for cooking was biogas. It was made from the cowdung at the biogas plant in the village. Ram and Ghanshyam were also surprised to see that his house had lights that came on the touch of a switch.

Ram and Ghanshyam asked the Sarpanch to tell them how his village was so modern.

Hari told them a true story. Many years ago, there was a village next to their village, called Harpur. Like all villagers, the people of Harpur too cooked on wood and coal fires and cut down trees. Finally there came a day when not a single tree was left in the village of Harpur, and the air was thick with smoke. Gradually, all the fertile soil of the village got washed away as there weren't any trees to hold the soil. The inhabitants of Harpur had to sadly leave their village and settle elsewhere.

“That's when we decided that our village shouldn't suffer a similar fate,” he concluded. And so we started learning new methods of caring for the environment. The result of our hard work is before you!”

Ram and Ghanshyam were happy to spend the night in the smart village of Vatika.

Clean India: Our Role

You must be aware of the drainage system and the system of cleanliness that make 'Indus Civilization', the most glorious civilization of the world. The following text describes the importance of cleanliness in our life.

Now read this story to find out what Kabir and Kamal think to contribute for cleaning India.

“Why is there so much dirt in our country?” Kabir asked Kamal.

“We do not pay the due attention to keep India clean,” replied Kamal.

“What can I, as a citizen, do?” asked Kabir.

Kamal said, “We can do the following things.”

We should put the domestic garbage into the roadside public dustbins.

We should keep the public road clean in front of our house.

We should devote one hour to community cleanliness every Sunday or on a holiday.

We should refrain from spitting on walls, footpaths and roads.

We should avoid urination and defecation in the open.

What shouldn't I, as a citizen, do?' asked Kabir.

Kamal said, 'We shouldn't do the following things.'

We shouldn't throw garbage on roads

We shouldn't litter bus and train coaches with nut-shells and other garbage.

We shouldn't use plastic carry bags.

We shouldn't stick posters on walls.

We shouldn't throw away the food leftovers.

Hasn't the government of India started an action plan for cleaning India? asked Kabir.

Kamal said, “Oh! yes, the government of India has started the ‘Swachha Bharat Abhiyan.’ The rural and urban India is to be made clean in the coming five years.

“If we all citizens follow the above ‘dos’ and ‘don’ts, we can contribute to clean India,” said Kabir.

kamal said, “Yes, I hope students and citizens will do their best to ensure clean India.”

Homes

In pairs, discuss

- What do we call the place we live in?
- Do animals also have homes?
- List the names of some animals and their homes.

Everybody has a home you, your friend, your teacher, the policeman, the Prime Minister, everybody. Animals too have homes and each home has its name. Listen to the poem.....

I might have lived in a shell,
If I had been a snail.

or in a great wide tossing sea,
If I had been a whale.

Or in busy noisy hive,
If I'd been born a bee.

Or a bunny in a burrow,
Eating lettuce for my tea.

I might have had a kennel home,
If I had been a dog.

Or a mud hole in a river-bed,
Had I been a frog.

I might have been a little bird,
And lived in a nest.

But oh! I am glad I am just a child,
I think my home is the best.

Anonymous

Maharana Pratap

- Rajasthan is known for its valour and sacrifices.
- Is there anyone amongst you who has not heard of Maharana Pratap?
- The text that follows, describes Maharana Pratap, the great king of Mewar, Rajasthan.

Let's read:

Maharana Pratap (or Pratap Singh) was born in Kumbhalgarh Fort of Mewar on 9

Maharana Pratap

(1540-1597)

May 1540 (3rd day of the Jyeshtha Shukla Phase- ज्येष्ठ शुक्लपक्ष तृतीया). This fort is 85 kms away from Udaipur city. He was the eldest son. His mother was Maharani Jayawantabai. His father was Maharana Uda Singh II, the founder of Udaipur city.

Pratap Singh (Maharana Pratap) was brave and bold right from his boyhood. Both the courtiers and the public were proud of his qualities. He mastered the art of horse riding, weaponry and warfare tactics very early in his life.

Pratap Singh (Maharana Pratap) got married at the age of 17. His first wife was Ajabde Panwar. In 1559 he was blessed with his first son, Amar Singh.

In 1567 Pratap Singh (Maharana Pratap) was only 27 when the Mughal forces captured Chittor. The entire royal family left for Gogunda. Pratap wanted to fight against the Mughal but the elders somehow convinced him not to do so.

When Udai Singh II died in 1572, he appointed his son, Jagmal, as his successor before his death. The royal courtiers and senior nobles did not accept it. They crowned Pratap Singh as the next Maharana in Gogunda.

Maharana Pratap never accepted Akbar as the king of India. Akbar, therefore, decided to capture Mewar. He sent his Army General, Raja Maan Singh of Jaipur to overcome Chittorgarh. Maan Singh had a larger army than that of Maharana Pratap. Maharana's army waited for the Mughal army at the narrow Haldighati pass. It was the only route to Gogunda.

The battle was fought on 18 February 1576. Maharana Pratap and his army fought bravely. He and his favourite horse Chetak were wounded. Maharana's men forced him to leave the battle field. The Mughal army also decided not to fight in the hills. With the help of Bhamashaha, Maharana Pratap re organised his army. He recaptured much of the lost territories of Mewar.

Maharana Pratap died of injuries sustained in a hunting accident at Chavand on 29 January 1597 at the age of 57.

Pratap Gaurav Kendra has been built beautifully in Udaipur to glorify the legendary life of Maharana Pratap. People can go there and see it free of cost.

The Fire

- Have you seen a building on fire?
- Can it cause a loss of life and property?
- What steps can we take to put out a fire?

Let us read the following conversation about the fire, its causes and the safety measures we should undertake.

[Lalita and Devendra were in Keshav market last Saturday. They are the students of sixth class. They had gone there to buy a dictionary and some books from a bookshop.]

“We have almost finished,” said Devendra. “Let us go home back.”

“Wait a minute' said Lalita,” She pointed at a group of people. They were standing on a pavement. Some of them were pointing at a large building. It was a hotel.

“I can see some smoke' said Lalita. 'The hotel is on fire. We should make a phone call for help.”

Lalita took out her mobile phone. She dialed 101, the phone number of the fire fighting service.

After a few seconds a voice said, “Fire fighting service here. Where is the fire?”

”There is a fire in Keshav market,” said Lalita to the man. “The hotel is on fire. Please send a fire engine quickly.”

“Thank you very much for the phone call,’ said the man’ We are sending some fire engines to put out the fire. You are a good girl. You have tried to help us. Please tell us your name and the name of your school.

Lalita told the fireman her name and the name of her school. The fire engine arrived in fifteen minutes and put out the fire. Most of the furniture was burnt but luckily there was no loss of life.

“What can be the causes of a fire?” said Lalita to the fire brigade officer.

The fire brigade officer said, “A burning matchstick, a spark from a firewood stove, a burning bidi or cigarette, a short circuit because of the use of low quality electric wires and equipments, over heating of electrical appliances, a leaking gas cylinder, nearness of petrol and diesel with fire, firing of crackers, etc. can be the major causes of a fire.”

“What steps should we take to put out a fire,” Lalita said to the fire brigade officer.

The fire brigade officer replied that we should not throw a burning matchstick, bidi, cigarette, cracker, etc. here and there. We should use standard electrical equipments and appliances. We should keep our gas cylinder in safe condition.

We should keep the highly inflammable things away from fire. We should keep a fire extinguisher.

We should switch off the main switch in the case of electric fire. And we should throw only sand over it and not water in any condition.

Lalita thanked the fire brigade officer and returned home with Devendra. She was very happy when she got a prize on the Republic Day.

Words Never Die

- Can we make the world a happy place by saying good words?
- Don't we make the world a sad place by saying bad words?
- Do words ever die?

Let us enjoy the following poem about 'words' and their role to make the world happy or sad.

A word can never be recalled.
It remains forever said.
As long as there is memory,
No word is ever dead.

Now careless words once spoken,
Can bring grief to a heart,
And often times in memory,
These words can never depart.

To make the world a sadder,
Or a happier place each day,
Is within the power of each of us,
By just the things we say,

Since words live for ever,
It's up to you and me,
To see that what we say each day,
Makes the world a better place to be.

Glossary

 Inky-pinky ponky.

- We see accidents on roads.
- Should we pay attention to road safety?

Let us learn more about road safety.

We all use roads. We walk on them or drive our vehicles on them. We go across them or walk on the pavements along them.

In cities there are footpaths or pavements along the roads. Those who walk on them are called pedestrians. It is safe to use footpaths if we are walking.

Roads in big cities are very busy. They are crowded with all kinds of vehicles like buses, trucks, cars, three wheelers, motor cycles, scooters, bicycles, etc. Slow moving bullock carts, horse carriages, etc. can also be seen there. Walking or driving on such roads is always very risky. People in a hurry ignore the rules of the road and cause accidents. A lot of people die or get injured in such accidents everyday. The best way to avoid accidents is to obey the rules of the road.

Do you know the rules of the road? Do you always obey them?

Here are some rules of the road. We should follow them :-

- Always keep to the left while walking or driving.
- Do not turn to either left or right before giving a signal.
- Do not cross until the road is clear. Before crossing the road look to the right once again. If the road is clear cross it quickly but carefully.
- While crossing the road go straight. Do not cross it at an angle.
- Do not run while crossing. Walk fast but calmly. Watch out for cars or vehicles.
- In big cities you must have seen black and white strips across the roads. These are called zebra-crossing. If there is one, always use it to go across the road. It is safer to walk on it.
- You must go by the traffic lights. Red light means 'stop'. Yellow light means 'ready to stop or move'. Green light means 'move ahead'. It is safer to move when the traffic light turns green. If you ignore the traffic signals, you can be punished.
- While driving or waiting at the traffic light do not blow horn unnecessarily. It disturbs others and also causes noise-pollution.
- If you are driving a motor-vehicle, drive it at a reasonable speed. Uncontrollable speed is dangerous and may cause accidents.
- Always wear a helmet if you are driving or riding a motor cycle or a scooter.
- Do not overtake any vehicle from its left side. Give signal to the driver and overtake from the right when the road is clear.
- You can see the traffic policemen at crossroads. They give signals to control traffic. Follow their signals without making a mistake.
- Be more careful in driving when it is raining. Roads become wet and slippery. Fast motor vehicles take longer to stop. People often rush carelessly because they don't want to get wet. Sometimes they hold umbrellas also while driving. Chances of accidents are very high on such occasions.

- If you have to board a bus, don't try to get into it until the passengers have got off.
- Do not get off a bus until it has stopped. After you have got off the bus, do not try to cross the road until the bus has moved off. Many people get hit by other vehicles when they step out onto the road from the bus.
- Do not throw banana skins, pieces of broken glass or blades on the road. They may cause injuries to pedestrians and damage vehicle tyres.
- Do not ever use mobile phones while you are driving. Better to stop aside to use it safely. You can thus avoid accidents.
- Do not stand in the middle of the road to talk to someone.
- Do not park your vehicle at any place. Park it at the right place.
- Do not burn the fire crackers on the road. Nor throw them on the road after burning them.
- All of us should have a keen sense of road safety. It is the quality that we should have to be called educated, cultured and civilized.

Punna Dhai: A Sacrifice for Motherland

Punna Dhai (The Loyal Nurse)

- Whose picture is it?
- Do you know something about the great sacrifice of her ?

Let us read the following story to know more about Punna Dhai and her great sacrifice for her motherland .

Punna Dhai was the loyal maid of Rani Karnavati, wife of Maharana Sangram Singh (Rana Sanga) of Mewar. Before committing 'Jauhar', she called her little son Udai Singh's faithful nurse and said, "Punna, my lord awaits me in 'Heaven'. I entrust the future king of Mewar to your care. You will be his mother here after, not I. Promise me to protect him till he is able to rule his people." Punna accepted the great responsibility with tears in her eyes. "He will be my son hereafter, oh queen!," she said sobbingly.

Prince Vikramajit, an unworthy ruler, was already unpopular in Mewar.

The high spirited and brave men of Mewar could not tolerate his cruelty, insolence and injustice. They murdered him. Banbir, the son of Rana Sanga's brother, Prithviraj, was then choosen to rule during the minority of 'Prince, Udai Singh.' He was both ambitious and cunning. He wanted the throne, so he decided to kill Udai Singh. He was neither noble nor kind. He awaited the approach of night to kill the child (Udai Singh),

Now the night had fallen. Little Udai Singh had just taken his food and gone to bed. Punna had just lulled him into deep sleep, suddenly she heard great uproar in the direction of the women's quarters. An old maid-servant had just arrived to pick up the remains of the prince's meal.

“What is the noise about?”, asked Punna anxiously.

“Banbir, the new ruler, is eager to siege the throne permanently for himself. He wants to murder the young prince, Udai Singh”,whispered the old women in a trembling voice.

Without wasting a moment, Punna took up the little prince. She hid him in a fruit basket. She covered the basket with leaves. She handed it to the woman. She ordered the woman, “Take it and hide it among the bushes of the river bed”. Then she put her own child in the place of Udai Singh. And she was just in time.

Banbir rushed inside the apartment almost the next moment. “Where is the Prince,Udai Singh?”, thundered Banbir.

With a painful heart she pointed to the cradle. With a broken heart she witnessed the cruel dagger thrust mercilessly into the tender body of her own son. Can you imagine her feelings at that time? She saved Udai Singh but sacrificed her son.

Nor could Punna stay to mourn her dead child. As soon as cruel Banbir left the hall, she ran to the river-bed. She carried Udai Singh far into mountains to a spot of safety. Thus Punna Dhai, the loyal nurse, fulfilled her promise to the departed queen.

What a great sacrifice of an unlettered maid-servant for motherland !

The Computer

- Today computers are being used not in big factories, industries, shops and hotels but also in homes.
- Do you know how a computer is made and how it works?

Let us accompany Anjali and Ankur who are going to visit a computer factory.

Mrs. Rani Singh, the neighbour of Anjali and Ankur, works in a computer factory. One morning Anjali and Ankur go to visit her in the factory. They are taken to a demonstration room where Mrs. Singh receives them.

Anjali : Good morning, aunty.

Mrs. Singh : Good morning, children.

Anjali : Aunty, we hope we have not disturbed you.

Mrs. Singh : No, not at all. It's a pleasure. Please, have your seat. What can I do for you?

Anjali : Well, aunty in fact we have come here to know about the

13 The Computer

Mrs. Singh : Really! well, I would certainly like to help you. (pointing to a computer) Look, this is one. It is nothing more than, grains of sand. These grains of sand are called 'silicon'. These form the base for thousands of very small transistors and micro- chips which make the computer.

Anjali : It's really interesting. How was it invented, aunty?

Mrs. Singh : Well, my dear children, do you know what a calculator is?

Ankur : Yes, aunty. A calculator is a machine which makes addition, subtraction, multiplication and division fast and accurately.

Mrs. Singh : Right. Now, listen. The world's first calculator was developed In China. The Japanese soon picked up the idea and developed better calculator. In the sixteenth century the Russians improved upon it. The first electronic computer was built at the university of Pennsylvania in USA in 1946. It was a huge machine. Computers of different sizes have been built since then.

Anjali : Thanks, aunty, for giving this information.

Ankur : Now aunty, please tell us how a computer is useful.

Mrs. Singh : You know, at railway station and big hotels it is used for making reservations. In banks it can keep accounts easily. It is also used in homes.

Ankur : In homes? Why do people like to have it in homes?

Mrs. Singh : Well, it is a very helpful machine for homes. It can provide information like telephone number, address, keep accounts and pass on messages. It can provide interesting games. It may also teach children.

Ankur : Can it teach, aunty?

Mrs. Singh : Oh, yes, it can. Books are slowly being replaced by computers in many countries.

Anjali : Really ! I can't believe it.

- Mrs. Singh : Now I'll show an interesting thing. Look, there is a toy car on that table. Now, I'll push this button of the computer and the car will start. I can control its speed, change its direction or stop it with the help of the computer. (Mrs. Singh demonstrates.)
- Ankur : Look, Anjali. How interesting !
- Mrs. Singh : And, look at this big computer. It may tell us if there is any faults in any of the machines in the factory. A computer can also keep the information and tell us when we need it. It works almost like a human brain.
- Anjali : Aunt, I think a computer is a substitute for human brain.
- Mrs. Singh : No, not really. A computer can't feel or think like a man. It hasn't got common sense. It is just a support to our brain.
- Ankur : Where can we learn aunt, how to use a computer.?
- Mrs. Singh : Well, the Computer Science is being taught not only in colleges but also in many schools.
- Anjali : Thank you, aunt, for this information. We would like to join such a course.

Activity III

A. Study the following sentences-

Someone is digging the field.(I can see him.)

The field is being dug.

In these sentences we find two different patterns of the verb forms. The first sentence begins with doer 'someone', the verb is 'is digging'. The second sentence begins with the object 'field' and there is the verb 'is+being+ the past participle form (the third form) of the verb'. In both sentences the action is taking place now.

Rewrite the following sentences starting them with the underline word. Mention the doer using 'by'.

Example : Mohan is eating an apple.

An apple is being eaten by Mohan

1. Prakash is drawing a picture.
2. Some boys are beating the dog.
3. Sheela is cooking food in the field.

4. Ratan Singh is ploughing the field.
5. Two men are cutting trees there
6. Girls are not doing homework.
7. The policeman is checking the licenses.

Opening an Account

- Have you ever visited a bank?
- Do people deposit money in a bank?
- Do they have their account in the bank?
- Do you know how a bank account is opened?

Let us read the text to know the process of opening an account in a bank.

Jyoti's examinations were over but her brother's examinations were not over yet. So her parents decided that they would not go anywhere during the vacation. "What should I do during the summer holidays?" asked Jyoti to her friend, Neelima.

Neelima suggested that she could run hobby classes and Jyoti did so. She was delighted to earn five thousand rupees during the vacation.

Her mother asked her to deposit the money in a bank so she went to the bank. She was given an application form by a clerk. He also told her how to fill in the form. She did as she was told. She filled in the form, fixed her photograph and returned it to the clerk.

The entries were checked by the head clerk, Mr. Santosh. Then her specimen signatures were attested by the manager. After that she was given a pay-in slip. She filled in the slip. She handed over five thousand rupees along with the slip to the cashier. The money was deposited by him and she was given a receipt for it. She also got the account number. Then the clerk asked her to come to the bank after two days. She went there after two days. She was given a passbook and a cheque book. The entry of the deposited amount was there in the passbook. It was made by a computer.

So, now she has an account with the bank. Whenever she does some work during holidays and gets some money, she deposits it in the bank. She does so because she knows her money is safe in the bank and it will grow there. She will get interest on it. She can also withdraw money from the bank whenever she needs. She can use her cheque book to withdraw money.

Isn't she very wise?

Swami Teonram Ji

Swami Teonram Ji
(1887-1944)

- Whose picture is this ?
- Do you know something about him?
- Let us learn more about Swami Teonram Ji

Swami Teonram Ji was born at the village Khandu, district Hyderabad of Sindhu Pradesh (presently in Pakistan) on 6 July, 1887. His father's name was Chelaram and mother's name was Krishna Devi. They were religious and cultured people. Mother lulled 'Shivoham- Shivoham' to make the child sleep. So, the child Teonram acquired good and religious qualities from his childhood.

He liked and sang devotional songs. Even, he would ask his friends to sing 'Ram Dhuni'. In school, too, he would sing devotional songs. He would serve the seers and sages who visited his home. He would listen to their 'kirtan'.

He performed miracles right from his boyhood. Once he went with his companions to the bank of the river, sindhu. The companions started bathing in the river. Teoonram didn't bathe. He took care of his companions ' clothes. Suddenly, a companion named Khillu started drowning. All the children started crying. Teoonram, immediately jumped into the river. He brought the child alive out of the river. Teoonram's age was only 12 years at that time.

At the age of 16 he became the disciple of Sufi Sant Aasuram Ji and started preaching 'Satsang' (spiritual discourse). For the propagation of ' Sanatan Dharma' he formed a 'Sant Mandali' (a group of seers). It was named 'Prem Prakash Sampradaya'. The core tenet of this cult was to turn people to god and to maintain religious harmony by propagating Vedic culture. He never criticized any religion.

He had dedication for both 'Bhakti' (devotion) and 'karma' (action). Some of the books composed by him are 'Prem Prakash Granth' 'Bhrahm Darshini', etc. He imparted 16 teachings to his followers.

He left this world on 6 June, 1944 forever. His disciple Swami Sarvanand Ji brought his sacred remains to Jaipur city. 'Amrapura' temple has been built for him and a 'Samadhi' has been constructed in it. His statue has been fixed in this beautiful temple with high minarets and a dome over it.

Annual celebrations in his honour and memory are held here every year in Chaitra month. People from foreign countries also visit this holy place.

Swami Teoonram Ji's Ashrams have been built in various cities such as Haridwar, Ajmer, Poona, Nasik, Indore, Baroda, Delhi, Agara, Lucknow, etc. The Ashramas have been built in foreign countries, too.

Satsang and Kirtan are organised in these Ashramas in the mornings and in the evenings. Grains, clothes and other things are donated to the needy.
